

Girl Power

They said you could be,
anything you wanna be.
Fly far away to infinity,
reach out and touch the galaxies.

But then they tied you up,
then they sized you down
and then they boxed you in.
They wont let you live.

They woke you up from your sleep and crushed all your dreams.
Told you your life wasn't yours to live.

They laid our passions to rest
but the fire still burned in us.
They took away the light
but our stars denied to fade.

Our soul has exploded from within Realising every bit of our worth and hope has surfaced again for the creator can never be decease.

We don't want your pity
nor the heart-wrenching shame.
We can fight our own battles and script our own tales.
Remember it's a roller coaster ride,
that which drops down always rises again.

We shall continue fighting for our existence
but lets stay true to ourselves.
Calm as the clouds, and fierce as the rains
You can treat us as low lives
But our love and vigor will always reign.

Don't be afraid my lovelies
Because if you have to fall you will fall anyway
Just don't let them bring you down be strong and you shall find your way.

Let's embrace the truth
for we are coming back to life
Stronger and better, girl power-full power!
